

"Almost perfect" won't do it

The next time someone says, "We're almost perfect," consider what would happen if some things worked perfectly even as often as 99% of the time:

- Homes would be without electricity, heat, water and phone service about 15 minutes every day.
- Every page of your phone book would contain about 3 wrong numbers.
- You'd have to do without your daily newspaper delivery about four times a year.
- Traffic lights would be defective about 15 minutes every day.
- U.S. pharmacies would incorrectly fill thousands of prescriptions each day.
- UPS would lose 136,000 packages daily.
- 25 airplanes would wreck daily in O'Hare airport alone (Chicago).

We can never settle with our current performance as being 'good enough'.

"A friend is someone who reaches for your hand, and touches your heart."

Acts 21

³¹And as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.

³²Who immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul. ³³Then the chief captain came near, and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done. ³⁴And some cried one thing, some another, among the multitude: and when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the castle. ³⁵And when he came upon the stairs, so it was, that he was borne of the soldiers for the violence of the people. ³⁶For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.
